OPTISCAN ANNOUNCES DOWNSIZING

The board of Optiscan reported today that it has concluded a downsizing activity reducing staff numbers from 34 to 23.

The downsizing is in part due to the current economic climate and in part to match resources to current operational requirements.

Background

Optiscan is a global leader in microscopic imaging technologies for medical markets. Optiscan's unique and patented technologies enable high-powered microscopes to be miniaturised and used inside the body. The technology enables microscopic imaging of up to 1000 times magnification to be achieved. Doctors can use the technology to instantly see cellular level details of tissue without the requirement to surgically remove tissue (biopsy).
